Action Plan-Strengthening of Research Systems for Public Welfare and Benefit

Kohsar University Murree (KUM) though is a newly established university with limited resources, but the institute is still working with its full capacity, dedication and hard work to promote the culture of Research, Innovation and Commercialization in best interest of local community and society at large. KUM is working hard to provide students and faculty with the adequate resources and infrastructure where they can groom themselves and enhance their research capabilities and skills. Following are some of the key working areas that are anticipated to be targeted. A considerable progress has already been done on some of the mentioned working domains.

1. Strengthen Instructional Framework for Research

i. Strengthening Central Research and Quality Assurance Offices:

The fully functional Offices like Office of Research, Innovation and Commercialization (ORIC) and Quality Enhancement Cell (QEC) are already developed with clear policies and defined roles. ORIC and QEC are being made fully functional. ORIC has also established a strong collaboration with the Quality Enhancement Cell and work in close coordination to ensure the attainment of common targets regarding Institutional Research Framework.

ii. Development of Comprehensive Research Policies and SOPs:

Though a number of Institutional Policies are formulated and being implemented, a considerable amount of work needs to be done regarding effective/realistic/implementable Policy Frameworks, especially related to research. The comprehensive research policies about Research Ethics, Intellectual Property Rights, Plagiarism Control, and Industry Collaboration etc. needs to be articulated and implemented to provide a transparent and enabling research environment for faculty and students.

iii. Faculty Research Development, Capacity Building and Mentorship:

A considerable volume of work is being done regarding faculty development. KUM Faculty not only organize/participate in various capacity development programs but are also acknowledged nationally and internationally. There is a need of more structured faculty development and mentorship programs especially during their semester break. More training session are required to be organized particularly on the themes of Research Grants/R&D Projects and Intellectual Property (IP) Rights. The Research Incentives Policy needs to be updated to include reward of patents, copyrights and other types of intellectual property.

iv. Enhancement of Research Infrastructure and Access to Resources:

Though KUM has an adequate Research Infrastructure, a gradual investment in essential research facilities, digital libraries, science laboratories, and software tools is required. The research collaboration with research intensive institutes would be done in the areas of shared facilities and inter-university collaborations in order to optimize limited resources.

Phone: +92 51-9269174, Website: <https://www.kum.edu.pk>

v. Promotion of Research Funding and Industry Linkages:

KUM especially through ORIC would support faculty in applying for HEC and other national/international funding program, and establish partnerships with industry, government departments, and local communities to encourage applied and solution-oriented research. KUM faculty actively participates in various funding programs. In 2025 alone more than 15 Research Proposals were submitted in HEC NRPU Program.

vi. Faculty Research Honorariums and Incentives:

Faculty members are provided Research inducements for their Journal Research Publications as per a well-defined Incentive policy. The policy would be revised to make it more realistic and include the award for other research dissemination and commercialization initiatives too.

vii. Introduction of Performance-based Incentive Schemes:

The Performance Based Incentive would be introduced about Best Researcher and Best Teacher Awards, in order to foster a culture of academic excellence. The Initial working on these awards has already been started.

viii. Establishment of Active Incubation Center and Encouragement of Spin offs:

Kohsar University Murree envisions promotion of student and faculty led ventures/spinoffs, fostering innovation, and contributing to economic development of country. We intend to establish an incubation center to encourage entrepreneurship and the commercialization of research and innovative ideas. The university aims to provide a supportive ecosystem by offering mentorship, business development support, shared workspace, and access to students & Faculty entrepreneur industry experts and investors.

2. Promote Solution Oriented Research

i. Promotion of Intellectual Property (IP) and its Incentivizing:

Kohsar University Murree aims to support effective technology transfer, and translation of research outputs into socio-economic impact. We intend to promote Intellectual Property (IP) Filing and licensing by strengthening institutional mechanisms that encourage faculty and researchers to protect and commercialize their innovations. The university intends to develop clear IP policies and guidelines, provide awareness sessions and training on patent, copyright, and trademark filing, and offer complete facilitation through its ORIC Office.

ii. Research Proposals Submission:

KUM faculty is working on solution oriented research. The submission of a considerable number of Research Proposals as per its PhD Faculty strength is pleasing. Faculty would be motivated to apply against various Call for Research Proposals in order to perform solution oriented and meaningful research with the commitment to solve real world problems through innovation and applied research.

iii. Joint Research & Development Projects:

The faculty would be motivated to work on R&D Projects of national prominence and significance in conjunction with local industry and academic through joint collaboration and ventures. The initiatives of faculty to work on joint projects with the focus on national priorities/needs would be motivated and promoted.

iv. Alignment of Research Priorities with Local and National Challenges:

Thematic research areas would be defined based on local community needs and national development priorities (e.g., Tourism, IT, Climate Change, Public Health, Education, Agriculture etc.), ensuring that research outputs directly address real-world problems.

v. Research Priorities Characterization and Implementation:

Research priorities in consultation with faculty would be defined and aligned with national and industrial needs to guide future projects and partnerships. Meaningful research that has intellectual/commercial value would be promoted and incentivized.

vi. Strengthening of University–Industry Community Linkages:

A number of meaningful collaborations are established with leading national organizations and industries. At present around 50 MOUs have been signed with leading organizations. More formal partnerships and industrial liaison would be established with local industries, government departments, NGOs, and communities to co-identify problems, co-fund research, and facilitate field-based and pilot projects.

vii. Provision of Seed Funding and Research Support Mechanisms:

Seed funding would be granted in the form of small internal grants, proposal-writing support, spinoffs support and Final Year Projects (FYPs) funding to encourage faculty and students to initiate applied research projects/FYPs/Innovative Ideas with societal or economic impact.

viii. Translation of Research into Policy and Practice:

There is a general concern across universities in Pakistan that research even in top notch institutes got shelved. KUM faculty regularly publishes a good volume of their research publications in high impact national and international journals of highest repute. The meaningful utilization of this research can be done via number of ways like through promotion and preparation of policy briefs, commercialization plans, and community dissemination activities, (seminars, stakeholder meetings, media engagement) to ensure research findings inform decision-making and practical implementation. Recently Vice Chancellor KUM has initiated an obligatory requirement for faculty members to submit their Policy Briefs in relevant organizations and government sector.

3. Develop Effective University Linkages

i. Contract Projects and Industrial Consultancy:

Faculty would be motivated to do consultancy and contract based projects in collaboration with local Industry. Faculty would be allowed to do consultancies and solution oriented tasks for industries. This will not only open doors for small funded Projects/FYPs for students but also unleash new opportunities for student employment and impactful industrial collaboration.

ii. Establishment of Dedicated Student Placement and External Linkages Offices:

A dedicated office for creating industrial collaborations keeping in view the student placement/employment has recently been established. The office is responsible to initiate, manage, and monitor liaison with industry, government, academia, and international relevant stake holders to create employment/placement and Internship Project based opportunities for students. Another office is also functional with the name “Office of External Linkages”. The office is responsible to create global industrial/academic linkages. The office would be made more independent and vibrant in the years to come.

iii. Development of KUM MOUs Policy:

The KUM MOU Policy is being worked on. The Policy Draft is in final phase, and will be shared with competent authorities and statutory bodies for approval. The Policy is expected to provide clear and objective guidelines regarding Academic/Industrial collaboration.

iv. Prioritization of Strategic and Need-Based Partnerships:

At present KUM had established around 50 formal partnerships with various national/international organizations. Our focus in future would be creation of tangible/output oriented high-impact linkages aligned with the university’s academic strengths and regional needs, such as local industries, public sector organizations, tourism, environment, education, and health sectors. Instead of mere numbers, our target would be quality oriented partnerships.

v. Formalization of Collaborations through MoUs and Action Plans:

We are ensuring that all linkages are supported by well-defined MoUs that include clear objectives, roles, timelines, joint activities (research, internships, trainings), and measurable outcomes rather than symbolic agreements. Focal persons are nominated by each party which remain in contact with each other. A comprehensive MOUs Database is also created and updated on continual basis. The MOUs are signed for a particular duration in order to halt them if no progress is made between the organizations in the areas of joint agreement.

vi. Promotion of Faculty and Student Engagement in Linkage Activities:

KUM intends to encourage faculty-led collaborative research, joint supervision, and community projects by providing incentives, workload recognition, and administrative facilitation. The MOUs and Partnerships with Research Organizations/Universities would also include the provision about joint usage of Research Facilities, Joint supervision/Co-

Supervision and inclusion of each other's faculty members in PhD and MS/MPhil Exams/Thesis Evaluation Committees.

vii. Strengthening Visibility and Communication of University Expertise:

A comprehensive database and digital platform would be developed highlighting faculty expertise, research facilities, and success stories to attract potential partners and sustain long-term collaborations. At present we have a good visibility of Digital and Social Platforms which further needs to be updated.

viii. Steering Committee and Industrial Advisory Boards:

ORIC Steering committee consisting of Top Executives/CEOs from various Industries is already established to facilitate Research, Innovation and commercialization led endeavors at KUM. In future the committee would be updated and made more functional. More industrial experts and entrepreneurs would be included in the committee to make it more vibrant and result oriented. The Industrial Advisory Boards would also be established in departments.

4. Encourage Inter Disciplinary and Collaborative Research

i. Establishment of an International Research Network:

An International Research Network is intended to be compiled containing the contact details of all international collaborators and supervisors (PhD, MS/MPhil) including their Research Areas, Institutes and other related detail.

ii. Creation of Interdisciplinary Research Themes and Clusters:

Identification of priority research themes addressing complex societal challenges (e.g., climate resilience, sustainable tourism, public health, IT) would be done and interdisciplinary research clusters involving faculty from multiple departments would be formed.

iii. Provision of Inducements for Collaborative Research Projects:

Incentives and recognition for collaborative research projects would be acquainted with the introduction of internal seed grants, recognition awards, and promotion criteria that specifically reward interdisciplinary and multi-department research proposals, publications, and externally funded joint projects.

iv. Facilitation of Inter-Departmental Collaboration and Networking:

Cross Departmental Research collaboration and joint ventures would be promoted through the organization of regular research seminars, idea-sharing forums, and proposal development workshops that bring together faculty from different disciplines to explore joint research opportunities. There are generally more chances of funding for inter-disciplinary Research Proposals/Innovative Ideas. Currently there are some potent researchers at KUM that work on joint Research Proposals /Inter-Disciplinary Ventures etc.

v. Strengthening of Research Support and Mentorship Structures:

There is always a need to develop research capacity of young researcher's and faculty members. When it comes about collaborative research and working on joint innovation projects, this requirement is even more. To achieve this one proposal could be establishment of mentorship teams comprising senior researchers from diverse fields to guide early-career faculty and postgraduate students in designing and managing collaborative and joint research projects, and innovation endeavors to convert research into commercializable product.

vi. Leverage of External Partnerships for Collaboration:

Concrete steps would be taken to promote joint research initiatives with other universities, research centers, industry, and government organizations to broaden disciplinary perspectives and enhance research quality and impact. The senior faculty researchers would be taken on board in this matter.

vii. Operationalization of Board of Advanced Studies & Research (BASR):

Kohsar University Murree is undertaking steps to fully operationalize its Board of Advanced Studies and Research to promote advanced studies, research, and academic governance at the university. KUM BASR has a well-defined governance structure and functioning guidelines. The need of hour is to make it more vibrant and active.

5. Ensure Transparent, Supportive and Ethical Research Environments

i. Establishment and Enforcement of Research Ethics Framework:

Kohsar University Murree has constituted its Ethical Review Board with well-defined TORs and representation across all faculties to ensure compliance with HEC/Regulatory Bodies ethical guidelines through clear SOPs and mandatory approvals. The board will scrutinize and approve all the Research Proposals/Surveys/Projects/Publications etc. involving ethical considerations. The board would be made more independent and active in the years to come.

ii. Promotion of Transparency in Research Processes and Decisions:

Kohsar University Murree intends to develop transparent mechanisms for research funding allocation, proposal evaluation, authorship, and recognition, with clearly communicated criteria and timelines accessible to all faculty and researchers. These factors would also be reflected in our Research related policies.

iii. Strengthening of Plagiarism Control and Research Integrity Measures:

Kohsar University Murree has already ensured institutional access to plagiarism detection tool like Turnitin. KUM has a well-defined and clear Plagiarism Policy prepared under the guidelines of HEC. We offer no compromise on academic integrity, and intend to strictly enforce anti-plagiarism and misconduct policies in the years to come.

iv. Building a Culture of Ethical Awareness and Accountability:

In order to enhance research capabilities of faculty and promote research culture at institute, Capacity Development and Impact Training is required in every research facet. In Research ethics and Integrity the importance of Capacity building cannot be undermined. KUM will organize Regular seminars, workshops, and awareness sessions on research ethics, data management, authorship norms, and responsible conduct of research to foster trust and accountability across the university.
